1.0 INTRODUCTION

The conduct of monetary policy by the Central Bank of Nigeria (CBN) in 2016/2017 will remain anchored on the Medium-Term Framework. The justification for such framework is based on the premise that monetary policy impacts its ultimate goal with a lag. The framework would thus enable the Bank avoid over-reaction to temporary shocks and time inconsistency problems associated with frequent changes in policies. The 2016/2017 Monetary, Credit, Foreign Trade and Exchange Policy Guidelines covers the period January 2016 to December 2017 and is designed to sustain the gains that the Bank has recorded with respect to price stability.

This circular outlines the monetary, credit, foreign trade and exchange policy guidelines applicable to banks and other financial institutions under the supervision of the CBN in 2016/2017. The guidelines may be fine-tuned by the Bank to take account of new developments in the domestic and global economies in the period without prior notice. Such amendments shall be communicated to the relevant institutions/stakeholders in supplementary circulars.

This document is organized into five Sections. Following this introduction, Section Two reviews developments in the domestic economy in 2015 as a background to the policy measures in 2016/2017. Section Three outlines the monetary and credit policy measures and guidelines for the programme period. In Section Four, the applicable foreign trade and exchange policy measures are presented, while Section Five focuses on consumer protection issues. The annexure contains prudential guidelines, relevant reporting formats and referenced circulars.

2 SECTION TWO

2.0 REVIEW OF THE POLICY ENVIRONMENT AND MACROECONOMIC DEVELOPMENTS IN 2015

2.1 The Policy Environment

The World Economic Outlook (WEO) October 2015 revised global output for fiscal 2015 to 3.10 per cent, slightly lower than 3.40 per cent recorded in 2014. Growth in emerging and developing economies is expected to slow to 4.00 per cent in 2015, reflecting the dampening impact of declining commodity prices, depreciating currencies and stiffer external financial conditions. The outlook for sub-Saharan Africa suggests a more subdued growth as lower international oil prices weakens activity in oil-exporting economies.

Challenges to the domestic economy included heightened insecurity, exchange rate depreciation pressures, rising inflation, declining crude oil prices, leading to lower accretion to reserves and substantial decline in government revenue, fiscal crisis at the sub-national level of governances, others included high production cost, infrastructure deficit, low supply of foreign exchange and hike in electricity tariffs. Consequently, GDP growth declined from 5.94 per cent as at end-December 2014 to 3.96 per cent in Q1 of 2015 and further down to 2.35 per cent in Q2 of 2015. It, however, increased to 2.84 per cent at Q3 2015.

Monetary policy was restrictive for the greater part of the year. However, in November 2015, the Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) reduced the Monetary Policy Rate (MPR) from 13.00 per cent to 11.00 per cent with asymmetric corridor of +200 basis points and -700 basis points around the MPR, for the Standing Deposit Facility and Standing Lending Facility, respectively. Open market operation (OMO) was the main instrument of monetary policy, complemented by cash reserve requirements, standing facilities and discount window operations. Liquidity ratio of 30.00 per cent, 20.00 per cent and 10.00 per cent was retained for commercial, merchant and non-interest banks, respectively, CRR on public and private sector deposits was harmonised to 31.00 per cent from their previous levels of 75.00 and 20.00 per cent, respectively. The CRR was reduced to 25.00 per cent in September 2015 and further to 20.00 per cent in November 2015.

The short term interest rates reflected the liquidity conditions and the monetary policy stance of the Bank in 2015. The interbank call and Open Buy Back (OBB) rates which stood at 24.30 and 22.28 per cent at end-December 2014 gradually decreased to 12.59 and 14.41, 10.85 and 10.65, 8.12 and 10.43, and 0.50 and 0.01 per cent, at end-March, end-June, end-September and end-December 2015, respectively. The downward trend in the interbank call and OBB rates reflected the liquidity surfeit in the banking system during the period.

2.2 Domestic Macroeconomic Developments

Economic growth in Nigeria slowed from the Q1 2015 level of 3.96 per cent to 2.35 per cent at end-June 2015 and then hinged up to 2.84 per cent at end-September 2015. The non-oil sector grew by 3.46 per cent in the second quarter of 2015 but grew at a lesser rate of 3.05 per cent at end-September 2015. That was 4.45 percentage points lower from the corresponding quarter in 2014 and marginally lower from the Second Quarter of 2015. In real terms, the Non-Oil sector contributed 89.73 per cent to the nation's GDP, marginally higher than the contribution in the Quarter of 2014 (89.55 per cent), but lower from the Second Quarter of 2015 (90.20 per cent). The major non-oil growth sectors were Agriculture (17.89 per cent), Trade (18.87 per cent), and Information & Communication (13.89 per cent), Manufacturing (9.29 per cent) and Real Estate (8.69 per cent).

Average crude oil output from January to December 2015 was estimated at 2.04 million barrels per day (mbd), representing a decrease of 7.69 per cent, compared with an average of 2.21 mbd recorded in 2014. Consequently, total crude oil production was estimated at 515.7 million barrels (mb), while allocation for domestic consumption was 0.45 mbd or 164.25 mb. The average spot price of Nigeria's reference crude, the Bonny Light (370 API), fell from US$100.40 per barrel in 2014 to US$50.80 per barrel in 2015, representing a decrease of 49.40 per cent. Inflationary pressures in the first half of 2015 continued through much of the year. The year-on-year headline inflation, which stood at 8.00 per cent at end-December 2014, persistently rose to 9.55 per cent at end-December 2015. The year-on-year core and food inflation for end-December 2015 stood at 8.75 and 10.59 per cent, respectively.

The provisional cumulative Federal Government retained revenue (Jan – Nov, 2015) was N2,844.97 billion while the cumulative aggregate expenditure for the period stood at N3,979.61 billion, resulting in a deficit of N1,134.64 billion for the period.

Money supply grew at end-December 2015 relative to end-December 2014. The broad measure of money supply (M2), at N20,029.83 billion, rose by 5.90 per cent at end-December 2015, reflecting the 12.13 and 1.08 per cent increase in domestic credit assets (net) and other assets (net) of the banking system, which was moderated by the 18.71 per cent decline in foreign assets (net). Also, narrow money (M1) rose by 24.14 per cent to N8,571.70 billion, as against the decline of 1.82 per cent to N6,904.79 billion at end-2014.

Aggregate banking system credit to the domestic economy grew by 12.13 per cent at end-December 2015, to N21,612.45 billion from the level of N19,273.76 billion at end-December, 2014. The increase in net domestic credit reflected the significant growth of 151.56 per cent in net claims on the Federal Government and the 3.29 per cent growth in claims on the private sector.

Reserve money, at N5,812.74 billion at end-December 2015, fell by 1.99 and 18.08 per cent below its level at end-December 2014 and the indicative benchmark of N7,095.49 billion for the fourth quarter 2015. The development reflected wholly, the 18.71 per cent decline in net foreign assets of the CBN as net domestic assets grew significantly.

The external sector deteriorated from its position in 2014 as reflected in the overall and current account balance deficit of 3.50 and 3.90 per cent of GDP. The development was attributed to the continued decline in crude oil prices, capital reversals due to uncertainties that surrounded the 2015 general elections. External debt stock rose to US$10.32 billion or 2.30 per cent of GDP as at June 2015, representing an increase of 6.20 per cent above the level at end-December 2014. The external sector remained highly susceptible to shocks due to the continued exposure to huge inflow of short-term capital and non-diversification of the economy.

As a result of demand pressure in the foreign exchange market, reduced portfolio inflow and the low accretion to external reserves, the exchange rate of the naira depreciated during the review period, reflecting largely, the adverse effect of low accretion to external reserves. Consequently, the Bank closed the retail Dutch Auction System (rDAS) window of the foreign exchange market in February, 2015 and all demand for foreign exchange were channeled through the interbank market. In addition, the Bank reviewed downwards, the limit on the usage of naira denominated cards for transactions abroad, and excluded 41 items that could be produced locally, from being funded at the foreign exchange interbank market. Exchange rates at the interbank and BDC segments of the foreign exchange market at end-December 2015 averaged N196.10/US$ and N226.04/US$, representing 18.32 and 31.55 per cent depreciation, respectively, compared with the levels at end-December, 2014, respectively.

Gross external reserves as at end-December, 2015 stood at US$28.29 billion compared with US$34.24 billion recorded at end-December 2014. The observed decrease in foreign reserves was due mainly to a fall in crude oil receipts occasioned by the fall in the price of crude oil at the international market.

2.3 Macroeconomic Issues and Policy Challenges in 2014/2015

2.3.1 Policy Challenges

The moderation in global output growth witnessed in the first two quarters of 2015 is expected to continue in 2016, as key drivers of the slowdown, notably; sluggish recovery in the euro area with modest performance in Japan and China. The IMF projected global output growth at 3.10 per cent for 2015, lower than the 3.40 per cent projected in 2014. The prospects for the advanced economies show marginal improvements, mainly due to gradual recovery in aggregate demand while growth in emerging markets and developing economies is projected to be lower, primarily due to falling commodity prices and declining global demand. The continued decline in the price of oil in the international market, the debt crisis in the Euro area and heightened geo-political tensions in the Middle East and North Africa would remain potential threats to the domestic economy in the near to medium-term. The lifting of the Iranian oil embargo, shale oil exploration in the U.S and the discovery of new oil fields in commercial quantities in Africa constitute downside risks to crude oil prices with the attendant adverse effects on government revenue in 2015 and 2016.

Monetary conditions are expected to remain loose in most advanced economies in the immediate- to medium-term to support the recovery process. The Bank of England is not considering raising its policy rate until unemployment falls to 7.00 per cent, while the Bank of Japan is likely to continue with its quantitative easing (QE) until inflation rises to 2.0 per cent. The ECB is continuing the QE by increasing the amount of assets purchase and extending the duration to 2018.

On the domestic front, containing inflation and demand pressures at the foreign exchange market remain the major challenge to monetary policy during the programme period. Also, persistent decline in international oil price and its effects on government revenue necessitating continued government borrowing remains a challenge.

Other challenges which include poor state of infrastructure such as road network, rail system, electricity, and water supply remained major macroeconomic concerns. The economy is further constrained by a weak technological base and high cost of domestic manufactured products, coupled with stiff competition from cheap foreign goods, low level of manufactured exports and the low utilization of local raw materials by industries, as well as insecurity of life and property.

Fiscal sustainability remains a major concern, particularly, excessive dependence on oil as a major source of government revenue and continued borrowing to finance recurrent expenditure.

2.4 Outlook for the Domestic Economy in 2016/2017

The outlook for the domestic economy in 2016/2017 is expected to be mixed given the sluggish global output growth outlook, which is expected to slow the demand for Nigeria's exports. Nigeria's economic growth is projected to be driven mainly by the non-oil sector. Government efforts to spur growth in the manufacturing and agricultural sectors are expected to contribute to improved economic performance in the 2016/2017 but this would be tapered by resource constraint. Specifically, the power sector, tax and import duty reforms are expected to support agricultural and manufacturing value chains, and subdue demand-linked inflationary pressures. Downside risks to the growth outlook are security challenges, low demand for Nigeria's exports due to the crawling global economic growth, and the sovereign debt crisis in the euro area.

The agricultural sector is expected to drive growth in the medium term through increased activities and attainment of self-sufficiency in agricultural production. This is hinged on sustained implementation of appropriate policies, incentives and programmes, favourable climatic conditions, local demand for agricultural produce and increased private sector investment. These would boost agricultural production and moderate inflationary pressures.

Inflation is expected to remain largely stable, as appropriate policy measures continue in 2016/2017. However, demand pressure at the foreign exchange market, high liquidity surfeit, low agricultural output growth and lingering fuel scarcity constitute downside risks to domestic price developments in 2016.

While recovery in the advanced economies is expected to improve the demand for Nigeria's exports, the demand for Nigeria's crude oil is projected to remain weak in 2016/2017, owing largely to gas and shale oil exploitation in the US, which has reduced Nigeria's crude oil exports to that country. Other factors include Saudi Arabian policy to over supply oil into the market to depress oil prices and make future production of shale oil uncompetitive, the after effect of the Iranian peace deal as well as investment in green energy. On the supply side, oil production capacity growth is expected to rise on the assumption that the Petroleum Industry Bill (PIB) is signed into law. This legislation is expected to stimulate investment in the upstream and mid-stream of the oil industry.

With the renewed anti-corruption campaign, reduction of leakages in government revenues, fiscal consolidation including the operationalisation of the Treasury Single Account (TSA), among others, the Nigerian economy looks fairly promising in 2016. Thus, there are prospects for improvement in non-oil tax revenue predicated on expanded tax/revenue base and the efficient collection machinery which will have significant effect on the economy.

The power sector reform, culminating in the privatization of the Power

Holding Company of Nigeria (PHCN), is expected to improve efficiency in power generation and distribution, thereby reducing the cost of doing business. This should lead to expansion in production, increased lending, investment growth, employment generation and poverty reduction. In addition, current efforts at improving transport network would enhance economic activities.

Premised on the World Bank forecast for marginal increase in crude oil prices, the outlook for the external sector for 2016 remains promising. Foreign exchange demand pressure is expected to continue through 2016 as the alternatives are few as the economy establishes the necessary framework and adjustments to new realities.

3 SECTION THREE

3.0 MONETARY AND CREDIT POLICY MEASURES FOR 2016/2017

3.1 Objectives and Strategy of Policy

The primary objective of monetary policy in 2016/2017 remains the maintenance of price stability. Integral in this is the sustenance of financial system stability. In this regard, the CBN will be committed to achieving the inflation objective of 6.0 to 9.0 per cent during the period through effective liquidity management. The aim is to create an environment characterized by low inflation and interest rates that is conducive for inclusive and sustainable growth. The Bank shall continue to take necessary steps to ensure banking system soundness and overall financial system stability as well as enhance the efficiency of the payments system to create a favourable platform for the conduct of monetary policy. The Bank remains resolute in achieving credible financial markets through effective enforcement of financial market rules.

Monetary targeting framework will remain the CBN's nominal anchor in 2016/2017. This will be complemented by an appropriate exchange rate regime. In that regard, the growth in broad money (M2) will be closely monitored, with projections of 10.98 and 10.29 per cent in 2016 and 2017, respectively.

3.2 Policy Measures

To ensure that the monetary aggregates are within the programmed targets, the monetary policy stance will be proactive, involving the discretionary management of the Bank's balance sheet. The Monetary Policy Rate (MPR) will continue to be the anchor rate for short-term interest rates. The Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) will regularly review the rate in response to prevailing liquidity conditions and other developments in the economy.

The major instrument for managing system liquidity will continue to be OMO. This will be complemented by cash reserve requirements, standing facilities, discount window operations and foreign exchange interventions. As approved by the Bank, federal and state government instruments shall continue to be accepted at the discount window.

3.2.1 Open Market Operations

The major tool for liquidity management will continue to be OMO. Auctions will be conducted through the sale and purchase of Treasury Bills and CBN Bills at the two-way quote trading platform. The Bills' tenor and volume will be influenced by the liquidity conditions in the banking system.

All authorized Money Market Dealers (MMDs) which include commercial and merchant banks, non-interest financial institutions and discount houses shall continue to be the participants at the OMO.

In addition, OMO auctions will be complemented by repurchase agreements (repo/reverse repo) at appropriate rates based on existing MPR.

3.2.2 Reserve Requirements

Cash Reserve and Liquidity Ratios shall continue to serve as prudential and liquidity management tools.

3.2.2.1 Cash Reserve Requirement

The CRR for deposit liabilities shall remain at 20.00 per cent, subject to CBN review in accordance with the prevailing economic and liquidity conditions. The maintenance period for the CRR shall be determined by the Bank from time to time.

3.2.2.2 Liquidity Ratio

Commercial, merchant and non-interest banks shall continue to maintain a minimum Liquidity Ratio (LR) of 30.00, 20.00 and 10 per cent, respectively, subject to review from time to time. Discount houses shall continue to invest at least 60.00 per cent of their total liabilities in government securities in the 2016/2017 fiscal years, while the ratio of individual bank loans to deposits, is retained at 80.00 per cent.

3.2.2.3 Net Open Position Limit (NOP)

The Net Open Position (NOP) limit (long or short) of 20.00 per cent of shareholders' funds unimpaired by losses, effective from January 2014, shall continue to apply during the programme period. Accordingly, all banks are to ensure that the difference between the overall foreign currency assets and liabilities (on and off balance sheet) shall be within the prescribed limit.

Furthermore, the requirement that aggregate foreign currency borrowing of a bank excluding inter group and interbank (Nigerian banks) borrowing should not exceed 75 per cent of its shareholders' funds unimpaired by losses shall be retained.

3.2.2.4 Net Foreign Exchange Trading Position

Authorised Dealers are required to maintain a maximum Net Foreign Exchange Trading Position of 0.5% of their shareholders funds unimpaired by losses at the close of business each day. However, the limit is subject to review from time to time.

3.2.2.5 Foreign Exchange Interventions

Despite the closure of the rDAS/wDAS foreign exchange window at the CBN on February 18, 2015, the CBN will continue to intervene in the foreign exchange market through the interbank foreign exchange window as at when necessary.

All foreign exchange transactions by authorized dealers must be reflected on Reuters Deal Tracker and all trades must be confirmed on the Reuters Dealing 3000 Extra terminal.

3.2.3 Discount Window Operations

Discount window operations shall continue to be accessible to market players as a means of managing short and medium term liquidity positions, in consonance with prevailing guidelines, circulars and other enabling provisions. The discount window shall be open on every business day to provide Standing Lending Facility and Standing Deposit Facility to authorized dealers to enable them square-up their positions. The applicable interest rate shall be determined by the Bank.

Outright rediscounting of eligible government securities shall remain at the discretion of the Bank and at rates approved by Management from time to time.

3.2.4 Non-Interest Financial Products

Towards sustaining the development of non-interest banking in Nigeria, the products approved by the Bank, namely the CBN Safe Custody Account (CSCA), CBN Non-Interest Note (CNIN) and CBN Non-Interest Asset-Backed Securities (CNI-ABS) shall remain in operation and can be accessed by non-interest banks.

3.2.5 Interest Rate Policy

Interest rates in 2016/2017 shall continue to be market-driven. The CBN shall continue to influence interest rates, indirectly, through the adjustment of its anchor rate, the Monetary Policy Rate. Accordingly, interest rates posted by banks in 2016/2017 shall comply with the following guidelines:

- a) Banks shall continue to pay negotiated interest rates on current account deposits. Where special purpose deposits are held for more than seven days, banks shall pay interest at a rate negotiated with the customer.
- b) The reducing balance method shall be employed for calculating interest charged on loans repayable instalmentally. The use of any other method for calculating interest on loans payable in agreed instalments, such as the discount method or the simple interest straight line method that would result in the payment of higher effective rates of interest than the contracted rate is not allowed.
- c) A statement of account shall be rendered promptly, to each account holder, minimally, on a monthly basis free of charge and shall include:
  - I. Rates of interest on over-drawn accounts, the amount and the period; and
  - II. Details of operation of the account during the month.

- d) Interest on savings deposit shall continue to be calculated on a customer's account as at the end of each month. Any accrued interest shall be credited to the account on due date.
- e) The balance on a personal savings account on which interest is payable is not subject to any threshold.
- f) Banks shall continue to design their savings pass books (manual /electronic) in a way that clearly shows the applicable interest rate, savings balances on which interest calculation is based, and the period for which interest is calculated and paid.
- g) Each bank shall continue to be responsible for cross-checking its charges and interest rates payable on deposit accounts. Where the bank discovers a non-payment or under-payment of interest on deposits, other entitlements, excessive interest, and bank charges, a return/report thereon shall be made to the CBN within two weeks from the date of discovery by the bank or date of receipt of customer's complaint. Under-payment and/or excessive interest and other charges shall be refunded within two weeks of the discovery/customer complaint to the bank, with interest at the bank's prevailing maximum lending rate from the date of such underpayment and/or excessive interest up to the date of refund, along with a letter of apology to the customer. Any bank that fails to comply with this provision shall, in addition to the refund to the customer, be liable to a penalty as may be prescribed by the CBN.
- h) Banks shall, in accordance with the provisions of BOFIA 2010 LFN and CBN circular Re: Publication of Interest Rates referenced BSD/DIR/GEN/CIR/04/001, continue to display daily at their offices, current lending and deposit rates, as well as publish such applicable rates daily on their websites and weekly in national newspapers (http://172.24.98.192/OUT/2010/CIRCULARS/BSDBANK\_RATES.PDF).

3.2.6 Remittance of Value Added Tax, Custom Duties and Other Collections

Banks shall continue to remit Custom Duties, Value Added Tax (VAT), and other revenue collections on behalf of the Federation and/or Federal Government, on a daily basis, in accordance with Federal Government (FG) circular on Treasury Single Account (TSA)/e-collection issued in August, 2015. Banks that fail to remit the collections within the specified period shall pay interest for late remittance as may be determined by the CBN.

3.2.7 Framework for Determining Banks' Cost of Funds

Banks shall continue to employ the weighted average cost of funds framework in the computation of their cost of funds. The applicable cost items shall include interest cost on the different types of deposit liabilities, borrowings from the inter-bank funds market, payments in respect of deposit insurance premium and costs due to reserve requirements. For the avoidance of doubt, overhead costs are excluded from this framework.

3.2.8 Framework for the Implementation of Risk-Based Interest Pricing Model

Banks are enjoined to pursue profitability in their business models through efficient operations. They shall, therefore, charge competitive rather than excessive rates of interest and disclose their prime and maximum lending rates as spreads over the MPR. They shall develop and implement a Risk-Based Pricing Model consistent with the provisions of CBN Circular Ref. No. BSD/DIR/GEN/RPM/04/120 dated 20th October 2011 (<http://www.cenbank.org/Out/2012/publications/reports/rsd/arp-2011/Appendix%20D%20-%20Policy%20Circular%20and%20Guidelines%20Issued%20in%202011.pdf>).

3.2.9 Maintenance of Savings and Current Accounts

The CBN shall continue to encourage banks to improve their deposit mobilization efforts. In line with the financial inclusion initiative, banks shall be required to allow zero balances for opening new bank accounts so as to make banking services accessible to the unbanked public. Accordingly, banks are encouraged to develop new products that would improve access to credit and simplify their account opening processes, without compromising the Know-Your-Customer (KYC) requirements.

3.2.10 Issuance of Federal Government of Nigeria Bonds and Treasury Bills

To meet its fiscal needs, the Federal Government through the Debt Management Office (DMO), in partnership with the CBN, shall continue to determine the amount/volume of issue or re-issue of FGN Bonds and Nigerian Treasury Bills (NTBs) during the programme period. Debt instruments of various tenors, cost and volumes would be issued to meet the funding needs of the Government and ensure an orderly development of debt instruments in the Nigerian financial markets.

3.2.11 Ways and Means Advances

Ways and Means Advances shall continue to be available to the Federal Government, to finance deficits in its budgetary operations to a maximum of 5.00 per cent of the previous year's actual collected revenue. Such advances shall be liquidated as soon as possible, and shall in any event be repayable at the end of the year in which it was granted. However, the TSA initiatives, introduced in 2012, has enhanced Federal Government cash management and reduced recourse to Ways and Means Advances. Consistent with the banking arrangement of TSA, Ways and Means Advances would now be determined after recognizing e-collection sub-accounts of the various MDAs, which are now linked or connected to the Consolidated Revenue Fund (CRF) to arrive at the FGN consolidated cash position.

3.2.12 Treasury Single Account (TSA)

The Federal Government of Nigeria (FGN) commenced the first phase of the implementation of the TSA in January, 2012 as part of the Economic Reforms and Governance Project (ERGP). The TSA is aimed at ensuring the optimum use of cash resources and reducing government borrowing. The first phase started with the payment element which enabled selected MDAs to draw payments from single account or designated accounts with the CBN. The full operationalisation of the TSA, which brought in the e-collection segment of the scheme effective from September 2015 among others, shall remain in force during the programme period.

Under the scheme, all FGN Public sector funds were remitted to CBN, with the exception of National Assembly and Judiciary that belong to different arm of Government. The TSA forms part of the government's public financial management reform programme, through which harmonization of over 5,000 multiple Federal Government (FG) accounts across CBN Branches and DMBs were harmonized into a single account with the bank, Known as Consolidated Revenue Fund (CRF) and connected accounts.

The Bank collaborated with the OAGF to ensure that all outstanding MDAs are migrated to TSA, which became fully operational by September 2015 shall continue in the 2016/2017 period.

Some Key benefits of TSA include:

- a) Effective implementation of monetary policies, as government funds are consolidated with the CBN, which eliminates DMBs float and consequently reduces costs of liquidity management;

- b) Promote transparency and accountability and block leakages in the management of public finance;
- c) Elimination/reduction of FG access to Ways and Means Advances which involves printing of high powered money with its attendant inflationary impacts;
- d) Facilitation of efficient payments mechanism, which in turn supports the development and modernization of the payments system;
- e) Minimization of volume and cost of borrowing, as all idle funds are consolidated by the government. For instance, the FG borrows from the capital market and incurs costs, despite huge idle credit balances on MDAs capital accounts;
- f) Make revenue available to FG to utilize for economic development and growth;
- g) Ensuring availability of cash to meet obligations;
- h) Real time information on government cash resources on consolidated basis and assist in reliable cash flow forecast;
- l) Improvement in operational controls during budget execution, as information about cash resources is readily available;
- j) Minimization of float in the system by ensuring that idle funds were unutilized; and
- k) Reduction on banks' fees and charges.

FRAMEWORK FOR THE IMPLEMENTATION OF RISK-BASED INTEREST PRICING MODEL BSD/DIR/GEN/RPM/04/120

October 20, 2011

LETTER TO ALL BANKS AND DISCOUNT HOUSES

RE: THE NEED FOR BANKS TO DEVELOP AND IMPLEMENT A RISK-BASED PRICING MODEL

The Central Bank of Nigeria had issued a circular ref: BSD/DIR/GEN/CIR/04/015 dated April 30, 2010 on "THE NEED FOR BANKS TO DEVELOP AND IMPLEMENT A RISK-BASED INTEREST PRICING MODEL (RBIPM)" to guide banks in the computation of their lending rates. The Circular was aimed at encouraging banks to:

- Pursue profitability by driving down cost and charging competitive rates rather than charging excessive rates of interest; and
- Disclose their prime and maximum lending rates as fixed spread over Monetary Policy Rate (MPR) thus making the MPR an effective tool for driving lending rates up or down as policy stance dictates.

The results of our analysis of the returns from banks with respect to the circular however indicated a lack of uniformity in the application of the guidelines. Furthermore, instances of double counting of certain cost elements in the computations by some banks were noted. Following these developments, the CBN, upon due consultation with stakeholders, has developed a standardized template together with explanatory notes to guide deposit money banks in the computation of their Risk Based Lending Rates (RBLR). The template is based on 6 key cost elements, namely:

- Direct Cost of Funds
- Indirect Cost/ Overheads
- Statutory Cost Opportunity Cost of Holding Non-Liquid Assets
- Target Return on Equity
- Risk Premium

Consequently, banks are advised to be guided by these key elements and also to specifically note the following in the computation of their RBLR:

- i. The monthly average deposits balance is to be used in the computation of 'direct cost of funds' and all other costs that use average deposit as a denominator.
- ii. Only the proportion of indirect costs attributable to the generation of interest income should be used in the computation of 'indirect cost' for the purpose of RBLR.
- iii. The basis for the computation of the 'Opportunity cost of funds sterilized in CRR' should be the Standing Deposit Facility (SDF) rates.
- iv. The 'opportunity cost of holding liquid assets in excess of the minimum requirement' has been expunged from the computation of the RBLR.
- v. The opportunity cost of holding non-earning assets should be benchmarked against the risk free rate, that is, the 90 days Treasury Bills Rate. This will eliminate the inconsistencies observed in the rates currently being used by banks, thus improving standardization and making the RBLR more sensitive to movements in the MPR.
- vi. Cash is to be excluded in the computation of opportunity cost of holding non-earning assets.
- vii. Banks are encouraged to use a combination of transparent and verifiable process for the determination of their Risk Premium. This process, which should be systematic, should be verifiable by interested third parties and regulators alike.
- viii. The model used by any DMB should take into cognisance available credit information on the customer from the credit bureaux and the obligor rating of the customer from one or more accredited agencies.
- viii. The latest five (5) year industrial average is to be used as 'Target Return on Equity' or as may be advised by the CBN from time to time. Meanwhile, all DMBs are to apply the current industry rate of 12.15 percent.

Henceforth, DMBs are expected to quote their lending rates as fixed spread over the MPR or any reference rate as may be determined by the CBN. They are also required to render monthly returns and publish on a regular basis (on their websites, newspapers, and other periodic reports), statements showing the relationship between the MPR and their Risk Based Lending Rates. This Circular supersedes our earlier circular of April 30, 2010 and takes effect from November 1, 2011.

ANNEXURE IV:

DEFINITION AND STRUCTURE OF HOLDING COMPANIES UNDER THE NEW BANKING MODEL

(<http://172.24.98.192/OUT/2011/CIRCULARS/GOV/HOLDCO%20CIRCULAR.PDF>)

December 30, 2011

FPR/DIR/CIR/GEN/01/024

CIRCULAR TO ALL BANKS

DEFINITION AND STRUCTURE OF HOLDING COMPANIES IN PURSUANCE OF THE NEW BANKING MODEL

Following the repeal of the Universal Banking Guidelines by the Central Bank of Nigeria in pursuance of one of its objectives of promoting a sound financial system, it was deemed necessary to expound upon the licencing requirements for commercial, merchant and specialized banks, with the aim of providing clarity on the conduct of banking business.

Consequently, in exercise of its powers under Section 57 (1) of BOFIA, and other enabling powers in that regard, it issued the Regulation on the Scope of Banking Activities & Ancillary Matters, No. 3, 2010 (Regulation 3).

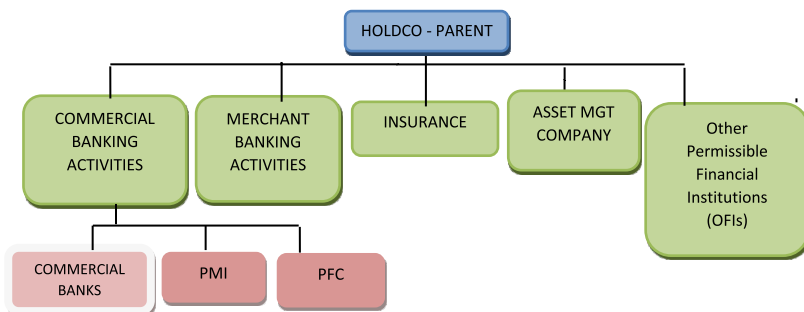

In the light of enquiries from various stakeholders, it was deemed necessary to issue this circular to define the Holding Company structure as envisaged in the Regulation 3.

As a general rule, a Holding Company (HoldCo) is defined as "any corporation that owns controlling shares in another company (subsidiary) or companies (subsidiaries) to influence decision making process." Under Regulation 3, it is expected that banks will adopt a financial holding company which can be defined as "other financial institution" licensed and regulated as such by the Central Bank of Nigeria for the purpose of making and managing, (for its own account), equity investments in companies engaged in the provision of financial services.

The nature and characteristics can be derived from the definition above. The structure is as shown in the example below:

A financial HoldCo must be registered with the Corporate Affairs Commission as a Holding Company. The Incorporation documents must state and list the subsidiaries as well as the nature of business engaged in by the subsidiaries. The CAC registration must conform to Regulation 3 establishing the New Banking Model.

A non-operating financial HoldCo must control at least one bank or other financial institution. Control is gauged by the holding of more than 50% of the voting shares of the subsidiary by the financial HoldCo. The only income stream for the non-operating financial HoldCo shall be dividend plus service fees, as appropriate, from the subsidiaries under the structure. However, a non-operating financial HoldCo is at liberty to transform to an operating financial HoldCo. In so doing, it must amend its Memorandum of Association (MEMART) and re-file same with the Corporate Affairs Commission (CAC) and other relevant regulatory authorities. It must also obtain the prior approval of Central Bank of Nigeria. A HoldCo within another HoldCo structure may be permissible, under Regulation 3, with the prior approval of the CBN. However, all commercial banking activities whether offshore or onshore must come under the commercial banking subsidiary.

This circular is for your guidance and direction.

LETTER TO ALL BANKS AND DISCOUNT HOUSES

PRUDENTIAL ADJUSTMENTS TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS OF ALL DEPOSIT MONEY BANKS

Following the adoption of International Financial Reporting Standards in line with the national roadmap timelines, all Deposit Money Banks (DMBs) are expected to exercise due care and caution in their financial reporting by ensuring that financial reports present a true and fair view of their results and financial position.

As regulators, we remain committed to ensuring adherence by all DMBs to extant prudential requirements, to ensure sustained resilience of the banking system.

Accordingly, we require all DMBs to add a "Statement of Prudential Adjustments" before Notes to the Financial Statements.

The Statement of Prudential Adjustments will compare impairment losses under the IFRS Financial Statements with all losses determined under the Prudential Guidelines. Any difference between the former and the latter should be adjusted under the Statement of Changes in Equity through the non-distributable regulatory reserve.

Please be guided accordingly

LETTER TO ALL MERCHANT BANKS

REVIEW OF MERCHANT BANKS PRUDENTIAL REQUIREMENTS

Following the submission by Merchant Banks on the need to provide a level playing field to aid their contribution to the growth of the real economy, we write to convey the decisions of the Management of the Central Bank of Nigeria (CBN) on the following prudential requirements:

- I. Single Obligor Limit: In line with the provisions of Section 20(1)(a) of the Banks and Other Financial Institutions Act, Chapter B3, LFN 2004, a single obligor limit of 50% will be applicable to merchant banks.
- II. Liquidity Ratio: The liquidity ratio applicable to merchant banks shall with effect from the date of this letter be 20%.
- III. Capital Adequacy Ratio: In line with our extant regulations on the subject, a capital adequacy ratio of 10% shall be maintained by merchant banks.
- IV. Cash Reserve Requirement: The cash reserve requirement applicable to merchant banks shall be 2% of deposit liabilities.
- V. Minimum Prescribed Deposit: The minimum prescribed deposit of N100 million stipulated in the "Scope, Conditions and Minimum Standards for Merchant Banks Regulations No. 02 2010" is reviewed downwards to N50 million. This sum shall remain the minimum sustainable balance in all accounts maintained rather than the minimum amount per tranche.

The above reviews have been carried out taking into cognisance the business model of merchant banks. Merchant banks are therefore, by this review encouraged to intensify efforts toward excelling in their niche business areas including infrastructure financing, factoring, equipment leasing, and loan restructuring.

EXTERNAL AUDITORS' RECOMMENDATIONS IN THE MANAGEMENT LETTERS IN BANKS AUDITED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 27 of the Banks and Other Financial Institutions Act of 1991 as amended, banks and discount houses are required to obtain the approval of the CBN prior to the publication of their audited financial statements. An integral part of the audited financial statements is the Management Letter, wherein the external auditors' concerns regarding the operations of a bank/discount house is enunciated. In recent times, our appraisal of the annual financial statements has shown that the recommendations by external auditors in the Management Letters are more often than not left unimplemented, and repeated along with new ones in subsequent audited financial statements. This practice of refusing/failing/neglecting to implement auditors' recommendations is a source of regulatory/supervisory concern, considering the critical nature of some of the recommendations to the operations of the banks/discount houses. Consequently, to forestall future occurrence of this adverse trend, banks and discount houses are invited to note that:

1. Henceforth, non-compliance with auditors' recommendations in the Management Letters will constitute a ground for the imposition of penalties in line with Section 60 of the BOFI Act 1991, as amended;
2. Banks/discount houses are now required to submit to the Central Bank of Nigeria, on quarterly basis, progress reports on the implementation of auditors' recommendations in the Management Letters; and
3. External auditors are now required, in line with the provisions of Section 63 of the Investment and Securities Act 2007, to "issue a statement as to the existence, adequacy and effectiveness or otherwise of the internal control system", in their audit reports.

Please, be guided accordingly.
